Your Sustainable Energy Cooperative

FROM HERE TO THERE

Like many of you, I enjoy the fall season and especially the month of October. I fondly remember my kids dressing up for Halloween and the cool weather that accompanied us as we went door to door trick-or-treating. Living in Wisconsin has given me a greater appreciation for fall because of the dramatic colors of the autumn leaves. October marks the transition from summer to winter, but it also means celebrating what it means to be a cooperative.

National Cooperative Month is observed in October by more than 29,000 cooperatives nationwide. It is a time to celebrate the advantages of the cooperative business model and recognize the many benefits cooperatives bring to their members and communities. Central Wisconsin Electric Cooperative is proud to be a part of the cooperative family, and we strive to adhere to the seven cooperative principals:

- 1) Voluntary and Open Membership
- 2) Democratic Member Control
- 3) Members' Economic Participation
- 4) Autonomy and Independence
- 5) Education, Training and Information
- 6) Cooperation Among Cooperatives
- 7) Concern For Community

October is also the month that your board of directors decides on the retirement of capital credits. Capital credits are the margins or revenues that remain and are assigned back to our members once all expenses are paid. Annually, the board retires a portion of these capital credits and members will see these as a credit on their electric bill. It's just another way that cooperatives add value back to their members.

October is also a time to show our appreciation to our members at our annual Member Appreciation Breakfast. The pancake breakfast will be held on Saturday, October 28, beginning at 8 a.m. The directors and staff of CWEC want to extend our thanks and appreciation for allowing us to provide electric service to you and be an integral part of the communities in which we serve. Learn more about your cooperative, visit with your fellow cooperative members, and enjoy some of the best pancakes in Central Wisconsin. See you then.

BOARD MEETING SUMMARY

Teens Discover the Cooperative Difference at Youth Leadership Congress

Central Wisconsin Electric Cooperative had the pleasure of sponsoring seven area high school students at the 2017 WECA Youth Leadership Congress (YLC) held at the University of Wisconsin-River Falls campus. The Youth Leadership Congress is co-sponsored by UW-River Falls and Wisconsin’s electric cooperatives. This year’s teens were from four area high schools: Bryan Cook and Natasha Ockwig, Rosholt High School; Tori Weier and Rae Ballinger, Amherst High School; Jada Beacom, Iola-Scandinavia High School; and Laynie Bessette and Thompson Moser, Little Wolf (Manawa) High School.

There were over 120 high school students from across Wisconsin at this year’s three-day event. The congress offers attendees the opportunity to enhance their leadership skills and learn a little about cooperatives. Through a mix of workshop sessions, hands-on activities, and

I liked the relatively even mix of information about cooperatives and leadership, and the general social atmosphere with the other students there was great. I'm glad I went and I'd definitely recommend it to others!—Thompson Moser, Manawa High School

Thank you so much for giving me the opportunity to attend the Youth Leadership Congress this year. I really enjoyed meeting and interacting with all the teens involved. One of my favorite activities at the camp was the etiquette dinner; I'm sure that meal will come in handy later in life. Coming into YLC, I hardly had any idea what an electric co-op was. Now, I've learned they give all profits back to the user. I would love to attend this conference next year; it was an amazing experience. Thanks again.—Tori Weier-Amherst High School team-building exercises, students were exposed to a variety of real-life issues and given the opportunity to boost and explore their leadership potential. In addition to the hands-on workshops, nationally recognized speakers motivated attendees and gave them skills and ideas to bring back to their communities and schools as strong leaders.

Craig Hillier returned with his high-energy “Breakthrough Program.” At the banquet, students learned the finer points of formal dinner etiquette. Featured speaker Adam Ludwig, assistant director of new students and family programs, UW-River Falls, gave his leadership presentation “Lead with Style” to close the program on Friday.

Although the program is very educational, the focus is on having fun. It's an excellent way for students to make new friends from around the state and in the process make lasting memories.

The entire program is planned, and in many cases, presented by a Youth Board selected by their peers. The Youth Board selected this year, plans next year's congress. 📍

Accompanying are comments from some of the students about their Youth Leadership Congress experience.

I would first like to thank you for sponsoring me and allowing me to attend the WECA Youth Leadership Congress. I had never done anything like this before so I had no idea what to expect but it exceeded all my expectations. Although I enjoyed every moment of the whole trip I did like the district meetings the most. Within these meetings I got to meet new people, got to know them, played various games, worked together and in more depth learned about cooperatives. I also enjoyed all the speakers that spoke throughout the conference. I learned something new from each and every one of them. I also learned a lot about cooperatives. I knew a little about cooperatives and had a general understanding of them before I attended YLC but now I know much more. Now I know things such as what a co-op actually is, what it does, who is involved, the benefits and the seven cooperative principles. Thank you again for giving me this opportunity. The experience was truly fun and educational. —Natasha Ockwig-Rosholt High School

I thoroughly enjoyed my experience at The Youth Leadership Congress this year! I am so grateful for this opportunity made possible by a generous sponsorship from the Central Wisconsin Electric Cooperative (which my family is a member of). I have attended both leadership and co-op camps before but this was the most memorable! I made friends that I still follow up with. The youth board was helpful and supportive as well as all the staff involved. There were so many chances for my peers and me to step up and take leadership roles throughout the retreat. My favorite was volunteering for the hypnotist. I put myself out there and had a lot of fun! I also really enjoyed the Breakthrough Leadership and motivational speaker; I took a lot of out that seminar. I had the opportunity of running for Youth Board although I did not make it this year. I hope to have another shot next year and broaden my leadership skills by becoming a representative of WECA. Overall, I had a TON of fun and learned more than I thought I could at this amazing Leadership Congress. I'm so glad I was selected to participate and can't wait to put my new experiences to work in my future endeavors!—Jada Beacom, Iola Scandinavia High School

Thank you so much for sponsoring me for the Youth Leadership Congress this summer. I had a great time meeting new people as well as learning a lot about leadership and cooperatives. It was truly an amazing experience that was greatly appreciated.—Rae Ballinger, Amherst High School

10401 Lystul Rd., Rosholt, WI 54473

Protect your identity by safely destroying unwanted, sensitive documents at Shred Day.

A representative from IROW will be onsite to explaining the shredding process and address and other questions you may have.

Attending Shred Day?

Here are a few tips to help you:

- You may bring up to four boxes or containers of documents.
- You should bring documents with sensitive information, for example: documents with SSN, credit card, bank statements.
- Please do not bring papers for recycling (phone books, magazines, coupons, books).
- Place paper documents in plastic containers or boxes and do not tape the containers closed.
- Staples, paper clips, rubber bands, folders, and dividers do not need to be removed from documents.
- Checkbooks and boxes can be shredded. Checks do not need to be ripped out of the checkbook.
- Please do not include non-paper items such as three-ring binders, batteries, DVDs and CDs, hard drives, or other electronics.
- All materials will be placed in a locked container on site.

IROW is the only NAID (National Association for Information Destruction) certified business within North Central Wisconsin. IROW's offsite destruction facility processes three tons of office paper per hour.
