

FROM RECORD-BREAKING SNOW TO SUMMERTIME SUN

By Mike Wade,
President & CEO

Hard to believe that just a few months ago, we were shoveling out from record-breaking snow. But summer is here and that means fun in the sun; it also means higher energy usage. Because of the warm summer weather, watch your thermostat setting and be mindful of conserving electricity. This will help keep your summer electric bills affordable.

Speaking of record-breaking snow, everyone remembers that our 2018 annual meeting was canceled on April 14 due to inclement weather. We regrouped and decided to hold our meeting on a weekday night in May so that an annual meeting could be held in accordance with our bylaws. Although we were not sure what the attendance would be, we were pleased to see a larger crowd than normal. The shortened meeting agenda meant that we got down to business more quickly and people were able to get home at a reasonable hour. Thank you for your attendance and we hope to see you at our Member Appreciation Breakfast, which will be held at the co-op headquarters in Rosholt on Saturday, October 27.

Included in this month's magazine is a second article on the cooperative's partial ownership in the West Riverside Energy Center. This article explains some of the financial impacts of ownership in the new natural gas combined cycle facility and the benefits that will be enjoyed by the cooperative's membership. We will also plan to run some reminder articles in mid to late 2019 as the new facility gets closer to commercial operation.

Be safe as you celebrate our nation's independence on the 4th of July. Enjoy the fireworks, parades, and barbecues, and remember the debt we owe to all of those who came before us to protect our freedom. Enjoy your summer.

CWEC CELEBRATES ITS 80TH ANNUAL MEETING

We were finally able to celebrate our 80th Annual Meeting on Tuesday, May 22, with a fantastic turnout of more than 200 members, after a snowstorm on Saturday, April 14, forced us to cancel the annual meeting. The snowstorm paralyzed the area with over 30 inches of snow in some areas, so for the safety of our members and employees we made the difficult decision early that morning to cancel the meeting and work on rescheduling when we returned to work on Monday. The Rosholt High School had a number of events already planned for May, so there were limited days available for us to hold the meeting. The board decided to try a weeknight and see what happens, and the response was overwhelming.

Kevin Kurtzweil, vice president of operations, detailed CWEC projects, which included pole replacements, overhead pole inspections, underground inspections, hazard recognition inspections, conversion projects, vegetation management, and new connections in 2017.

Manager of Member Relations Brenda Mazemke reported the cooperative provided over $19,000 in organization and hardship donations and 75 scholarships totaling $15,900 through Operation Round Up, and added two new scholarship programs in 2017: Electric Utility Worker and Professional Development scholarships.

Vice President of Accounting and Finance Lila Shower reported that the cooperative returned more than $227,215 to members during the past year, retiring almost $122,998 in capital credits and providing more than $104,217 in energy conservation credits. Since the co-op began retiring capital credits in 1988 the co-op has retired $4.6 million in capital credits to members.

Board Chairman Anthony Buss stated that Central Wisconsin Electric Cooperative's goal is to meet the needs of the member-owners, both today and tomorrow.

Members approved the results of board election conducted by mail. David Wozniak, CPA, from CliftonLarsonAllen LLP announced the election results: Anthony Buss, Jr and Leonard Oppor, unopposed, were returned to their seats for new three-year terms.

CEO Mike Wade re-emphasized statements made in prior reports.

Door prize winners were Earl Hintz, Jerome Vanderkooy, Dianne Erickson,

WEST RIVERSIDE ENERGY CENTER

As we mentioned last month, Central Wisconsin Electric Cooperative (CWEC) has partnered with Rock Energy Cooperative and Adams-Columbia Electric Cooperative to own a share of the new West Riverside Energy Center that is under construction near Beloit. This new power plant is a 726 MW (mega-watt) natural gas combined cycle facility that will be operated and primarily owned by Alliant Energy. The three electric cooperatives will own a total of 60 MW, or about 8.2 percent of the facility.

So how will owning a portion of the new plant benefit the membership of CWEC? Roughly 41 percent of CWEC's overall cost to purchase electric energy and have it delivered to our substations is based on our peak demand. Peak demand is the largest instance of power usage in a given time frame and it is measured in kilowatts (kW) or mega-watts (MW). When our members use the greatest amount of energy during the month, this time period represents our peak demand period. Because we are billed based on our peak demand, we encourage our members to move their high energy consumption to off-peak periods such as the morning or evening and to also participate in our load control programs.

By owning a small share of the West Riverside Energy Center, we are able to own some of our needed generating capacity. Because we own generating capacity, we are able to reduce our monthly peak demand by the amount of ownership. Early projections show that because of our 5 MW ownership, our peak demand-related costs could go down as much as 28 percent. Although we will have other costs related to ownership of the plant, this reduction in peak demand costs will have a positive impact on all members' electric bills. As we get closer to the commercial operation date of the facility, we will update our cost estimates and provide more detailed information in future editions of the WECN magazine.

COMMITMENT TO COMMUNITY-OPERATION ROUND UP DONATIONS

The Operation Round Up Trust Board recently approved donations totaling $6,215. Those receiving donations included: Iola Village Library (new construction project), Iola Lioness (Post Prom Party), NIC Foundation (anti-bullying Character Camps), Shadows on the Wolf Habitat (annual Learn to Hunt program), Iola-Scandinavia DECA Club (national competition), Iola Village

Library (summer library program), Wittenberg-Birnamwood Booster Club (Grad Bash), Iola Winter Sports Club and USA Nordic (regional ski jump camp), Casimer Boosters 4-H Club (field trip), Children's Hospital of WI All-Star Charity Football Game (sponsored two members' students who are playing in the game), and three family hardship donations.

1. Marie Skowen (c) Operation Round Up board member, presented Ben Cady (l) and Ethan Olson with a donation for the Children's Hospital of Wisconsin. Ben and Ethan will play in the All-Star Charity Football Game. 2. Sue Halverson, Operation Round Up board member, presented a check to Robyn Grove, Iola Village library director. The money will help fund their summer library program.

3. Members of the Iola-Scandinavia DECA Club accepted a donation from Marie Skowen, Operation Round Up board member. The students will be competing in the national competition in Atlanta, GA. 4. Marie Skowen and Sue Halverson, Operation Round Up board members, presented a check to Iola Village Library to help with their new construction project. Accepting the check is Robyn Grove, Iola Village library director.

"We continue to be amazed by the amount of good this program does," said Manager of Member Relations Brenda Mazemke. Funded by volunteer donations from co-op members, Operation Round Up provides funds for worthwhile causes, including member hardship cases, educational purposes including scholarships, and charitable organizations. In addition $14,650 in scholarships was awarded to 69 college-bound students.

Members who choose to participate have their electric bill "rounded up" to the next highest dollar. For example, a $95.52 bill becomes $96.00. On average the amount contributed is 50 cents per month, or $6 a year. The monies collected are turned over to a nine-member volunteer Trust Board (one member from each of the co-op's nine sub-districts) that administers the program. Current Trust Board members are Marie Skowen, Sheri Beilke, Marlene Wepner, Gary Kolodziej, Renee Groshek, Maxine Lemke, Bonnie Paulson, Sue Halverson, and Clifford Kessen.

"The success of Operation Round Up is due in large part to the volunteer efforts of the Trust Board," said Mazemke. "On behalf of the co-op I'd like to thank all current and past board members."
